BLACK MUSLIM RENAISSANCE

The Black Muslim Festival

A changing landscape

The Black Muslim Renaissance

From Islamic scholars to athletes, from intellectuals to community activists, from entrepreneurs to politicians, from artists to healers, the global Black Muslim community is thriving like never before, masha Allah.

A Shared Vision

Increasingly, Black Muslims are coming together to discuss shared challenges and ideas for the future. These discussions, so vital for the healing of our collective past, are inspiring change and growth throughout Africa and the diaspora.

2020 has been a tumultuous year for all of us, from the global impact of COVID-19 to the Black Lives Matter protests and ensuing conversations and realisations about racism and anti-blackness within the Muslim community and outside it.

The Black Muslim Family Festival is a month-long programme of lectures, workshops, seminars, panel discussions, business showcases and special events to bring the global Black Muslim community together in a spirit of healing and empowerment.

The events will take place during Black History Month (UK).

What is the purpose of the Black Muslim Family Festival?

To celebrate

To come together to celebrate the identity, achievements and shared heritage of Black Muslims worldwide.

To educate

To amplify the voices of Black Muslim thinkers, academics, creatives and activists on topics that are relevant to the community.
